

I used ASP.NET Core to build REST API's (Web API) and as front-end framework (MVC) to generate pages or views (User Interface).

I using Entity Framework Core as data access mechanism to work with data from the database.

The figure below illustrates how each technology interacts with each other.

I Created a database